

The Crucifer

November 29, 2011

Vol. XIII, No. 1

From the Rector:

In the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a town in Galilee called Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. The virgin's name was Mary. And he came to her and said, "Greetings, favored one! The Lord is with you." Luke 1.26-29

I have been to Mary's house in Nazareth.

It is quite small. In fact, it is smaller than most living rooms.

Dirt floor. Mud walls.

We do not know how many siblings Mary had, but there was not a lot of personal space in their home. So privacy was negligible to non-existent for her.

Mary was likely very young. Teenager young. Even early teenager young.

Which makes her selection all the more remarkable. God could have chosen a princess, but He chose Mary.

Could have chosen an adult, but He chose Mary.

Could have chosen someone who lived in a palace, or at least an estate, but He chose to enter into the world through a young teenage girl living in a living-room sized home in a very small town in a minor part of the Roman Empire.

Mary's response to Gabriel and to her mission is, perhaps, the greatest statement of faith in the Bible.

"My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, for he has looked on the humble estate of his servant. For behold, from now on all generations will call me blessed; for he who is mighty has done great things for me, and holy is his name." Luke 1.46-49

As you walk through Advent and prepare for Christmas, remember that God has chosen you. He has chosen to love you. He has chosen to bless you.

The Lord has called you to a great task – to know Christ. I pray that this Christmas, the Lord will do great things for you. And that your life will overflow with faith, gratitude, and joy.

Have a blessed Advent!

I have said these things to you that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be complete.

John 15:11

Experiencing Epiphany

The Three Comings of Christ Advent, 2011

Have you ever noticed how, in the Christian Faith, so many things come in “three’s”? Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Peter, James, and John. Faith, hope, and love.

Another “Trinitarian triad” which is especially relevant at this point in our church year is found in the Memorial Acclamation of our Eucharistic Prayer:

Christ has died.

Christ is risen.

Christ will come again.

I’ve long reflected on our confession of this “triple event” in terms of Advent, a time when we prepare for the coming of Christ. (Note that, in Latin, the verb venire means “to come,” and the prefix ad means “to” or “toward.”) It points, I think, to the reality of the three “comings” of Christ, all of which require our preparation. Christ came; Christ comes; Christ will come again.

First, Christ came. He came to our hurting and broken world 2000 years ago as a baby boy, born to a young teenage girl in Palestine. He came to an afflicted people, in desperate need of something, someone, to put their hope in. This first coming, when the God-man walked upon the pages of historical time and space, is something catholic Christians actively remember every year in Advent. We relive it, we reimagine it, we prepare for it. When it comes to this, the “first coming” of Christ, what is going on is that we are preparing for the remembrance of a past event (not unlike the annual preparation for one’s wedding anniversary).

But, second, Christ comes. Every Eucharist, every time the Word is read, in fact every moment of our lives, God in Christ approaches us in loving relationship. This is true on so many levels we scarcely have time or space to discuss it. In my Christian formation class this year during Ordinary

Time we spent many weeks discussing and practicing a form of prayerful reading called lectio divina, and this is why: Christ is always present, and yet the challenge and need is for us to develop and cultivate an awareness of that presence. Hence, we pray. We meditate. We contemplate. We wait. We listen. “Be still,” the Psalms instruct, “and know that I am God.”

Finally, Christ will come again. This we confess at every Eucharist in the words of the Nicene Creed: “He will come again to judge the living and the dead.” No man knows the hour, and few should claim to know the manner, but that he will return, we are absolutely certain. And though the details are hazy, we are told that he will come like a thief in the night. (1 Thes 5:2) Therefore, St. Paul admonishes, “let us not sleep, as others do, but keep awake, and be sober.” (1 Thes 5:5) Sounds like preparation to me.

All of this reminds me of a quotation from Mexican novelist Carlos Fuentes: “We imagine the past, and we remember the future.” The past, the first coming of Christ, is an event which renews and redeems the world, simultaneously bringing Israel’s story (for us, the Old Testament) to its anticipated climax. It is no ordinary event. It is the “axis mundi,” the pivot of history. It is, at the same time, the climax of our story, yours and mine. When we read about God’s people in the Old Testament, we are reading about our community, our selves. This is an event we are imaginatively to re-inhabit.

The future, in turn, is something we “remember,” for we have already been told how it will end. Putting aside all of those dense, thick commentaries on the Book of Revelation for a moment, we do see in the last two chapters of our Story a renewed community, celebrating the ultimate victory of God and his Lamb. We know, in other words, “who wins” in the end, and we know that our destiny is sure: to rest in and to enjoy our Three Person God forever with all his Saints.

We imagine the past; we remember the future. In so doing we are enabled more and more to live fully into the present moment, in which Christ comes to us continually and without reservation.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION CLASSES 10:00-10:50 am

Adult Christian Education, 3rd fl. Grelling-Spence Bldg.

The Gospel of Luke, is taught by The Rev. Luckenbach in the Ascension Room.

A Reason for God. During the four Sundays of Advent, Fr. Matt & The Rev. Peete will be leading a discussion based on the DVD series "A Reason for God" by Timothy Keller.

Modern Anglican Divines, through December 11. Who are the major modern theologians of Anglicanism? What do their writings say to us as Christian disciples of the 21st Century? In this seven-week course, we will look at Anglican thinkers such as William Porcher Dubose, William Temple, Frederick Denison Maurice, and Rowan Williams. The Rev. Stine will teach this course in the Trinity Room.

Children and Youth

Nursery: 8:30 till end of 11/11:05 services, infant-1st grade,

Godly Play: Children from 2 years to 2nd grade grow their faith through Godly Play, a Montessori-based curriculum using a careful telling of scripture stories, engaging story figures, and a variety of creative activities to encourage children to seek and find their own answers to their faith questions.

3rd – 6th AKALOO: A curriculum for 3rd through 6th grade that brings a "stage-specific" approach to faith formation for our children and youth by focusing on five areas of discipleship: Bible, God, Disciple, Church, and World.

7 – 12th Character: A study designed for 7th through 12th grade students that reveals how people of the Old Testament encountered God in amazing ways, and their lives were drastically changed. Students see how an encounter with God will change their lives forever.

Choir School of East Texas 4th Annual Cookie Walk

Sunday, December 11, 8:00 'til they're gone

Come to the Parish Hall on Sunday, December 11th, where you'll find dozens and dozens of homemade cookies all baked by loving hands of Choir School supporters. Here's how it works: you purchase an empty box for $12 or an extra large one for $20, then you fill your box with cookies - choosing just the right ones for your family or special event. You can have as many cookies as you want, provided they will fit in the box with the lid closed.

The drawing for our Aggie and Longhorn 3D Gingerbread Houses handmade by Tina Ridley will be held. Preordered Gingerbread House Cookie w/Boy & Girl will be ready for pick-up. And, last but not least, add to your box, homemade treats specially wrapped for your pets.

Christmas Gift Tree

The Choir School of East Texas is providing you with an opportunity to support our non-profit organization and at the same time provide a Christmas gift for someone you love.

This is how it works:

Take an envelope from the Choir School Christmas Tree. Determine the amount you want to give and write a check to the Choir School and give it to Diana Keesey. Include the name and address of the gift recipient in the envelope.

A lovely handwritten acknowledgement card will be sent to the recipient within one week to let them know that a gift has been given, by you, in their name.

The tree will be in the Grelling-Spence lobby

Youth Ministry

Listening to a radio sermon yesterday I was reminded of the truth surrounding the concept of thanksgiving; the act of giving thanks, that is, not the holiday. The truth that the preacher was attempting to help his listeners understand was this: that there is no such thing as being thankful until we act upon the gratefulness in our hearts. Thanksgiving without some sort of verbal expression or symbols of service through action is nothing more than gratefulness.

He said that it is easy for people to be grateful, or glad of heart in response to some good thing or blessing in their lives. But he claimed that too often our gratefulness is not followed by true thanksgiving.

Much like a child receiving a birthday or Christmas present often needs to be reminded to say thank you to the giver, or give a hug, or write a "thank you" card, we too need to be reminded from time to time that we ought to give thanks to our Father in heaven for his goodness and grace in our lives. I am sure that every child is grateful in their hearts to receive gifts, as we all are. You can see it on their faces. A big smile, a sly grin, an excited gasp. It is easy to surmise that their hearts are full of gratefulness.

Yet, most parents understand the need and politeness of offering a sign, an act, of thankfulness toward the giver of such gifts.

Needless to say, the message got me thinking. More than that, it got me thanking. As you read this you'll be on the other side of Thanksgiving. In fact, you'll be a few days into Advent. Yet, despite the different names of the holidays and seasons associated with calendar dates, it must be said that thankfulness should most definitely be an every day, all-the-time practice in our lives and spiritual discipline. Among other commands and instructions found in I Thessalonians 5:18, Paul tells us to "give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for (us) in Christ Jesus."

How about that. We spend so much time wondering what God's will is...for us, for our children, our careers, our churches, the Church, for this world...and all it really takes, where new direction and a joyful life can be found, is in the heart of thanksgiving to our good and gracious Jesus.
