November 8, 2011

Vol. XII, No. 23

From the Rector:

Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus, the founder and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God.
Hebrews 12.1-2

At the Sydney Olympics, the world was introduced to Eric "The Swimmer" Moussambani of Equatorial Guinea as he swam in the 100-meter free style qualifying heat. The 22-year-old African had only learned to swim the previous January. He had only practiced in a 20-meter pool without lane markers, and he had never raced more than 50 meters. By special invitation of the International Olympic Committee, under a special program that permits poorer countries to participate even though their athletes don't meet customary standards, Eric had been entered in the 100-meter men's freestyle.

When the other two swimmers in his heat were disqualified because of false starts, Moussambani was forced to swim alone. Eric Moussambani was, to use the words of an Associated Press story about the race, "charmingly inept." He never put his head under the water's surface and flailed wildly to stay afloat. With ten meters left to the wall, he virtually came to a stop. Some spectators thought he might drown!

Even though his time was over a minute slower than what qualified for the next level of competition, the capacity crowd at the Olympic Aquatic Center stood to their feet and cheered the swimmer on. After what seemed like an eternity, the African reached the wall and hung on for dear life. When he had caught his breath and regained his composure, the French-speaking Moussambani said through an interpreter, "I want to send hugs and kisses to the crowd. It was their cheering that kept me going."

We have a cheering section. We cannot see them all, but the book of Hebrews reminds us that a 'great cloud of witnesses', composed of all the faithful departed, is pulling for us as we make our way through this life.

In a few short weeks, we will celebrate Thanksgiving. This year, I invite you to give particular thanks to God for

I have said these things to you that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be complete.

Experiencing Epiphany

Becoming Like Jesus

Do you desire to be more holy? Do you have a longing to be more like Jesus?

My wife Bouquet is from a land locked country (Laos). I myself grew up in the Texas Panhandle, a region about as remote from the life of sea and sailing as I can possibly imagine. Therefore neither my wife nor I have much experience at all in sailing (although the idea of sailing quite intrigues me!).

When Canon John Newton was with us a few weeks ago, he used an excellent analogy to describe the life of the Christian. He likened our spiritual life to sailing on the open sea. No matter how hard the captain of a vessel wishes that the wind would blow, there is absolutely nothing he can do to make it blow. So what does he do? The only thing he can do is to put up the sails, and create the right conditions for wind-propelled motion.

In the same way, Canon Newton reminded us, in our spiritual lives, we cannot force the Holy Spirit to do his work of transformation in our lives, changing us into the likeness of Christ. Rather all we can do is to “put up our sails” and let the Spirit blow. After all, it is the nature of the open sea for the wind to be blowing. It happens naturally, organically.

Now, of all the amazing speakers I heard at clergy conference last week at Camp Allen, none was more thought provoking than Christopher Webb. Chris, the President of Renovare, spoke to us of the “means of grace.” After, all, in our office of Morning Prayer, we read “We bless thee for ... the redemption of the world ... the means of grace, and the hope of glory.”

What are these “means of grace?” Much like the action of “putting up our sails,” when we practice the means of grace (prayer, Bible study, fellowship, worship, and various other disciplines), the wind of God begins to blow in our lives.

Webb clarified: “The means of grace are not disciplines that make us into more holy people. They are disciplines or practices that make our lives as open possible to the grace of God, so that we can stop trying to make ourselves into more holy people, and let God do it instead.”

Such is the deep, rich, practical theology behind spiritual formation. Would you like more of this? I have two invitations for you:

Consider joining a Christ Church neighborhood group in the spring. In those groups we will be going through the book of one of Chris Webb’s colleagues at Renovare: The Good and Beautiful God by James Bryan Smith. These books are packed with wisdom and practical steps to make us more like Jesus. When read in community ... sit back, and feel the Spirit blow!

Consider attending (and bringing a friend or two!) my Christian Formation class on Sunday, November 13. The title of this event is “Christian Spiritual Formation: Becoming Apprentices of Jesus - A Conversation with Fr. Matt and Lyle SmithGraybeal, the coordinator of Renovare, on small groups and the theology behind The Good & Beautiful book series by James Bryan Smith.”

“Becoming Apprentices of Jesus.” This is what we are about at Christ Church, under the leadership of our Bishop and our Rector.

Our Sunday morning classes, our emerging small group ministry, our worship, our prayer, our fellowship ... transformative means of grace which allow the Spirit “naturally” to blow through our lives!

The Rev. Matt Boulter, Assistant Rector

those who have participated in your cheering section. I especially remember my grandparents and parents, an amazing group of elementary and middle-school teachers in Corpus Christi, and a group of Episcopal women at churches in south Texas. For much of my life, they and others have been cheering me forward as a student, a Christian, a man, and a minister. I thank God for them. I thank God for their prayers, their witness, and their encouragement.

For whom do you cheer? Persevere in your support for them. It might be the difference between disappointment and victory.

Youth Ministry

Once Halloween arrives, I begin to feel the fall quickly slipping away and the holiday season coming on with full force! There are parties to attend, travel arrangements to be made and the food preparation for your Thanksgiving feast with friends and family is a full time job in and of itself! Advent is here before you know it and if you are not careful, you will find yourself losing the joy which is meant to surround the season because of your "to do" list.

As we are rapidly approaching this holiday season, our youth have been working on a variety of projects, mostly related to serving others. We served at Loaves and Fishes, put together baskets for our home bound parishioners and we just sent off our first package to our adopted child, Consolee, for her birthday! We have learned about taking care of ourselves, trusting one another and what that word "power" really means.

I firmly believe this group is growing into a stronger relationship with God as well as with one another. I can see their interaction and their willingness to give back to those in our church as well as one another. When you have a group of boys willing to sit and make baskets for those less fortunate, you know there is a true spirit working in the midst of their hearts. I am so proud of these kiddos and easily learn from the love they share.

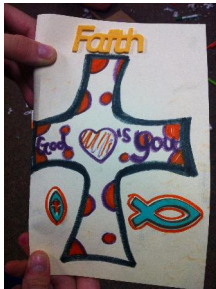

I realize we all get busy this time of year but I urge you to continue to keep church activities on the calendar. Sometimes, I know it feels like this is just one more thing to do...however, please see this experience through the eyes of those less fortunate. Our job is to cultivate strong stewards of the faith and in all honesty, how can that happen without being involved in a community where you learn about that faith?

Here are some important dates to keep on your calendar for our youth—specific information has been sent or will be shortly. We are having a great time...won't you join us?

- November 12 Bethesda Work Day; 7:45—12:00 p.m.
- November 13 Zip-Lining for all 5-12th graders!
- November 27 Advent Wreath Making Workshop
- December 3 Salvation Army Bell Ringing

2012 Vestry Nominations

Once again it is time to look to the future of our parish. A new class of five Vestry members will be voted on at our Annual Meeting on January 15, 2012. The Nominating Committee is currently seeking your recommendations for nominees.

The Nominating Committee is chaired by the Senior Warden, the outgoing Vestry members and the Rector. This group is charged with presenting a list of qualified candidates from which you will select the new class. This year's outgoing vestry members are: Francis Kay, Cynthia Patty, Tom Ridley, George Roberts and Day Shelmire.

Your input is invaluable in this process as we invite you to present names to be considered for possible nomination. Your confidential suggestions will be reviewed by the committee and vetted by the Parish Administrator to insure that they are qualified. According to the Canons of the Diocese of Texas, in order to qualify for consideration a person must meet the following requirements: 1) be a committed Christian; 2) be at least 18 years of age; 3) be a confirmed communicant of Christ Church, Tyler; 4) be faithful in corporate worship; and 5) be a donor of record.

Additional expectations of Vestry members are that they participate fully in the life of Christ Church, be active members of the committees they are asked to serve on as Vestry members, and that they attend monthly Vestry meetings.

Please send your suggestions to the Parish Administrator's office in a sealed envelope marked "Vestry Nominations" by Sunday, December 4 or email Francis Kay lfk@sbcglobal.net. The Nominating Committee will meet shortly thereafter and select ten nominees to be presented to the vestry. Nominees' bios will be posted by no later than December 31, 2011 so that you are prepared to vote at the Annual Meeting.

Due to the sensitive nature of this process, I request that you not disclose your nominations at this time to either your suggested nominee(s) or other parishioners.

Thank you for your prayerful consideration.
