FROM THE RECTOR:

Lent has been a time of spiritual housekeeping for 1800 years. The Church formally embraced the observance of the season of Lent in 325 at the Council of Nicaea.

Exodus 24 records that Moses spent 40 days with God on Mt. Sinai before receiving the Ten Commandments. And Matthew 4 teaches us that Jesus spent 40 days fasting in the wilderness in preparation for His ministry.

Lent is a powerfully useful season in our formation as women and men of God.

Medieval theologian Thomas a Kempis reminds us of the value of Lent. He wrote, "There will always be many who love Christ's heavenly kingdom, but few who will bear His cross. Many are eager to be happy with Him; few wish to suffer anything for Him. Many love Christ as long as they encounter no hardship; many praise and bless Him as long as they receive some comfort from Him." Lent exists to deepen our faith in the Lord.

Lent is an important season which leads us to the Cross of Christ on Good Friday and prepares us to celebrate anew the Resurrection of Christ on Easter Sunday. The practical pillars of the Lenten season include Fasting, Prayer, and Almsgiving. Millions of believers will commit to a Lenten discipline as a sign of their commitment to Jesus and a tool to strengthen their faith.

I invite you to join many millions of believers throughout the world in the observance of a Holy Lent. Embrace the season as an opportunity to draw nearer to Christ. Fast, Pray, and Give Alms. On Tuesdays throughout Lent, we will host Lenten luncheons in the downtown nave and parish hall at noon, reflecting on Practices of Prayer. Each Thursday, we will gather for Holy Eucharist at noon in the chancel. This coming Sunday, February 22, Christ Church will welcome the Patriot Singers from UT Tyler, who will help lead us in a powerful Evensong in the nave, filling that holy space with magnificent music fitting for the season.

Throughout the coming weeks, I bid you to faithfully observe a Holy Lent.

Faithfully yours in Christ,

David +

I've recently been enjoying a book of paintings by William Kurelek that covers the last week or so of Jesus's life.

Kurelek, a Canadian with Ukrainian roots, is one of my favorite artists. He was a prolific painter and is known for his work that showcases the rugged landscape of Canada, rural life on the Prairies, and some creative visualizations of his own struggles with mental health. After a conversion to Christianity, he produced some of the most striking (to me, anyways) Christian art in the past century. I've written about Kurelek before and occasionally use his images in my sermon slides at Christ Church South.

Tony and Jamie Rhorer very generously tracked down and gave to us a copy of his book, The Passion of Christ According to St. Matthew. I'd seen several of the images in this book but never have I viewed the whole collection, and I was almost overwhelmed by the force of his portrayal of Jesus's suffering and resurrection.

What is more, Kurelek wrote a very personal introduction to this collection in which he shared his own struggles including his weathering a lonely childhood in Manitoba, his hospitalization for depression, and ultimately his conversion to Christianity.

I was particularly moved by his description of the way that God was able to use the suffering that Kurelek experienced earlier in his life to make him more sensitive and compassionate to the suffering of others in his later years. His reading of God's providence in some desolate seasons was a hopeful reminder to me that God never fails us. Even when life is difficult, God is working weaving together a hopeful future for us.

Further on in the introduction, Kurelek recounted how he struggled to get his start as an artist and, because of a recession (I believe the Recession of 1958), he was not only unable to make a living as an artist, but he was unable to find any employment at all. Because of this, he had lots of time and nothing to do and started to work on the inspired paintings that make up his book, The Passion of Christ According to St. Matthew.

When Kurelek finally did find part-time work framing pictures, it was for an art dealer, Av Isaacson, who recognized Kurelek's talent and offered to give him an exhibition. This was so successful that Kurelek's career leaped forward, and he went from success to success.

In his retelling of his story, however, Kurelek could see that this success would not have happened if he had not been unemployed, and if he had not had to take a sub-par job. In hindsight, he saw the gracious hand of God at work in his life.

Everyone's story is different, but I believe with Kurelek that God wastes no experience we have to endure. He is with us in the worst of times and he brings good even from these. We must not lose hope.

February is a busy month for EYC! Here are just a few highlights.

1. Our youth confirmation program started on February 8. This year parents and/or godparents are playing an even bigger role in the process. We are grateful for their presence and support.
2. Mardi Gras plans are underway. EYC activities will stay on the fourth floor and include a pancake/crepe bar, a movie on the "big screen" in the gymnasium, and a room set aside just for board games and card games along with our ping-pong table! There will be plenty to do!
3. Youth leaders are sharing their personal faith stories. In addition to our current study on the Fruits of the Spirit, our leaders are sharing their personal examples of what Christian Faith looks like in modern life.
